

Dear Associate Partner of eMenthe –project!

eMenthe is EU-funded project (2013-2016) focused on developing eLearning materials in mental health. The project started a year ago with the collection of data through in-depth interviews with key stakeholders to elicit their views on the key knowledge, skills and personal values that are required by Master's level mental health nurses in a number of key areas. You may have been involved in this initial phase.

To-date we have gathered data from 139 participants (family members, service users and clinicians) in Finland, Sweden, Ireland, United Kingdom and the Netherlands. The interviews gave us valuable information for the content of the eLearning materials. Currently the partners are engaged in completing critical reviews of key research and policy literature while simultaneously planning the online materials.

Year 2015 will be a year of development of the materials. When the first drafts of the learning materials are ready we will be once again seeing your help to pilot and comment on the materials. The purpose of the pilot is to make sure that you find the materials are suitable and relevant to professionals as well as Master's level students.
